Changing Dress

A survey by The Wall Street Journal notes that casual dress is growing more common in many offices as styles change. According to the survey, "Continental Illinois National Bank & Trust drops its dress code encouraging formality in male dress. The head of Chicago based Leath & Co. wears a sport shirt to work and lets his employees do the same on the ground that 'people should dress comfortably during the summer.'" In San Francisco, a lawyer turns up in court in a plaid lumberjack shirt, a tie, a corduroy jacket, and his hair tied in a pony tail. Changing life styles and the heat of summer aren't the only reasons for change. Continental Illinois National admitted that its dress code "wasn't enforceable." But the bank still forbids sandals, sneakers and see-through blouses.

There is some resistance however. "People wouldn't trust a guy wearing yellow suspenders and a loud shirt with their money," said a spokesman for John Hancock Mutual Life Insurance. Greenville (Miss.) Delta Democrat Times

Where Do Elephants Go?

In a pleasant but not very successful 1971 Broadway musical called "70, Girls, 70," Mildred Natwick sang a catchy song called "Where Do the Elephants Go," which wondered what happens to the remains of dead elephants.

For Miss Natwick it was a ponderable, and ponderous mystery. Now comes Custos, the magazine of the South Africa National Parks Board, with a non-answer. Pachyderms don't go to some elephant's graveyard of bleached bones and tusks as an African myth has it, says Custos; they just die wherever their heart stops.

So much for myths. But if all this detracts from the elephant mystique, we don't suppose the Democrats will mind. Donkeys don't have hidden graveyards either, so far as we know. So in that respect, if in no other, the race shaping up for November is a contest of equals. -Wall Street Journal

Our Home Life Direly Threatened

The Senate's refusal to exempt domestic servants from the provisions of its minimum wage bill, says Republican Senator Peter Dominick of Colorado, will be "a terrible burden to every housewife in the nation."

Many will have to fire the governess, the butler or the chauffeur, or ask the upstairs maid to work downstairs, too. A few, it's feared, will have to make do without any servants at all.

Can the traditional American home survive? -Louisville (Ky.) Courier-Journal and Times

Stay There, Jane

Actress Jane Fonda, while visiting in North Vietnam, got on Radio Hanoi and urged American soldiers to disobey orders, or, if they were really serious about hating the war, to defect. Miss Fonda, who has been clapping hands for the enemy long enough, seems to have forgotten her heritage. Had she been born in North Vietnam, chances are she'd be pushing a rice cart and eating mush for supper. Rep. Fletcher Thompson, R-Ga., would charge her with treason. It would suit us better if she'd just stay in Hanoi with her friends. -Charleston (S.C.) News and Courier

McGovern wasn't first pick of Shriver either

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sargent Shriver, who was George McGovern's seventh choice at best for running-mate, says McGovern wasn't his first pick for the Democratic presidential nomination.

Shriver, the new vice-presidential nominee, told interviewers Thursday that he donated $2,000 to the presidential primary campaign of Sen. Edmund Muskie and helped him quietly until the Maine Democrat faltered at the polls.

Shriver said he had considered Muskie the man best able to unify the party and the country.

Later in the day, Shriver called on Maryland Gov. Marvin Mandel and told newsmen that McGovern has not bound him to absolute agreement on all issues.

Asked his stand on abortion, Shriver, a Roman Catholic, replied: "I'm not in favor of what is called abortion on demand ... This may be one of the issues where Sen. McGovern and I do differ."

Shriver got the nod after Muskie and others turned down McGovern's offers. He was installed on the ticket officially by the Democratic National Committee Tuesday night.

At his rented estate in suburban Maryland, Shriver answered questions in a room cluttered with souvenirs from his Kennedy family in-laws, his children's toys and mementos of his own career as Peace Corps director and ambassador.

Appointed ambassador to Paris by Johnson, Shriver stayed on during Nixon's first year and left, he said, only when he became convinced the right steps toward peace were not being taken.

"Nixon had peace literally handed to him in his lap," in 1969 he said. "He blew it."

"I thought he had one of the great historic opportunities of my lifetime," Shriver said. "I thought he could have stopped the war. In my judgment, it would not have been difficult. I think we would have gotten better terms in 1969 than he can today."

House rejects directive to pull out U.S. troops

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House has given President Nixon a victory and almost ensured a new struggle with the Senate by rejecting a directive to pull all U.S. forces out of the Indochina war by Oct. 1.

Thursday's 228-178 vote was the closest direct House vote ever on ending the war, but the margin was far wider than either backers or opponents had predicted.

After striking out the war directive, the House passed a $2.1-billion foreign-military-aid bill, 221 to 172, and sent it to the Senate.

There it faces the danger of getting the same treatment the Senate gave its own military-assistance bill: approval of a rider cutting off money for the war in four months and then defeat of the whole bill.

The fight then would turn to keeping military aid alive on an interim basis pending official revival later.

The House rejected the Oct. 1 pullout directive after Nixon backers contended it would disrupt his efforts to negotiate peace—and his critics argued that only Congress can make him negotiate a prompt pullout.

No one, including Rep. Lee Hamilton, D-Ind., chief author of the directive to withdraw U.S. forces from Indochina by Oct. 1 in return for release of American prisoners and a limited cease-fire, contended it would force America out of the war.

Speaker Carl Albert, Democratic Leader Hale Boggs and 75 other Democrats joined 151 Republicans in rejecting the war-pullout directive; 23 Republicans and 155 Democrats supported it.

Defeat was assured when war-policy critics split, with some joining Nixon's backers in defeating an effort to change the pullout deadline to Dec. 31. That vote was 304 to 109.

The previous closest direct vote was the 238-163 House rejection last November of a measure to cut off war funds by this past July 1.

House antiwar forces mustered 175 and 193 votes on procedural motions interpreted as being against the war last year, but they were not direct yes-or-no tests.

Last infantryman leaving Vietnam

SAIGON (AP) — The last U.S. combat infantrymen in Vietnam prepared to go home today, and for Ronald Wegerle it was none too soon.

"Things weren't going too good," said the 21-year-old sergeant from Wichita, Kan. "It was the same thing over and over. The men were getting tired and morale was getting bad."

"We kept going out in the bush, and the feeling was we weren't accomplishing much. It seemed useless. All we'd do was walk. We'd be out several days, and we didn't seem to need to be out there at all."

The news spread into the field during the past week that the 3rd Battalion, 21st Infantry, was being phased out. The last 240 men were flown back to Da Nang on Thursday to turn in their equipment and pack their bags.

The U.S. Command made the announcement today, officially ending the 7½-year U.S. ground combat role in Vietnam.

At peak strength in April there were 112 U.S. maneuver battalions as part of a 543,000-man force. By Sept. 1, the U.S. force will be cut to 39,000 men in Vietnam — advisers, logistics personnel, air crewmen and other technicians — and another 100,000 Air Force, Navy and Marine personnel fighting the war from air bases in Thailand and Guam and from 7th Fleet ships off the coast of Vietnam.

Wegerle said "everybody watched where they were walking" after his Delta Company learned it was leaving combat for good.

"They all were pretty cautious," he said. "They all wanted to go home."

But five men were wounded

by booby traps on security patrols.

The last American combat infantrymen wounded in Vietnam, Spec. 4. James McVicar, 20, of Chester, Calif., is being flown to the United States on Saturday.

The 3rd Battalion arrived in Vietnam in 1966 and eventually became part of the ill-fated Americal Division. The battalion's Alpha Company made headlines in August 1969 when it balked at going into combat.

'Criminal violations' charged in petitions

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Thomas A. Glaze, chairman of The Election Laws Institute, said Thursday his initial investigation into petitions filed by the American Party in Arkansas showed evidence of "criminal violations."

The party filed the petitions to get a spot on the Arkansas general election ballot for its presidential and vice presidential nominees. Secretary of State Kelly Bryant certified the petitions.

Glaze told a news conference that the petitions bore names of fictitious persons as circulators, that the names of dead persons had been signed to the petitions and that persons' names appeared on the documents who said they did not sign them.

Glaze said the name of Walter L. Carruth, chairman of the party, was signed six times on disputed petitions.

Glaze also said evidence supported a belief that Bryant "may have been careless or overworked in some instances" in checking the petitions for irregularities.

Glaze said he thought Bryant and Carruth wanted to discredit his investigation of the petitions. He showed newsmen copies of what he said were seven of the petitions. Glaze said six of them bore the name "Walter L. Carruth" with a Lexa address and that the seventh bore the name "Walter Lane Carruth," whom Glaze said he assumed to be Carruth's son.

"They might not have signed the petitions," Glaze said. "All I know is that their names appear on them."

Reached at his home, Carruth said he did sign petitions three times but that he could not remember signing more than that.

He explained that he had signed more than once because the circulators of two sets of the petitions told him that the copies he had signed were lost. He speculated that they might have been found.

Carruth said he recalled signing a petition once in a little country store and then signing one for his cousin. He signed a third one because both the first ones were supposed to have been lost. He said he wanted to examine the petitions before commenting on which ones were his signatures.

Committee to meet to elect delegates

A meeting of the Hempstead County Democratic Central Committee will be held at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday in the Hope City Hall Courtroom to elect delegates and alternates to attend the state Biennial Convention, according to Donal Parker, chairman of the county committee.

The state convention will be held Sept. 8-9 in the Hall of Industry building, Arkansas State Fair and Livestock Showgrounds in Little Rock.

Any committeeman wishing to be a delegate or alternate to the state convention has been requested to notify the committee secretary, E. C. White, prior to Tuesday's meeting, Parker said in a letter to the committeemen.

Quang Tri: Same place, another time

EDITOR'S NOTE — Soldiers and fleeing civilians died in the South Vietnamese retreat from Quang Tri late in April. A State Department report has told of a massacre of 1,000 to 2,000 civilians by the North Vietnamese. An Associated Press correspondent who spent most of the past four months on the northern front examines the episode in the following analysis.

By HOLGER JENSEN

SAIGON (AP) — Hundreds of South Vietnamese were killed trying to escape from Quang Tri City before its fall. The slaughter was indiscriminate, by definition a massacre. But from evidence at the scene and in the aftermath, the action April 29-30 was not "a deliberate North Vietnamese army massacre of helpless civilians," as State Department spokesman John King described it.

The carnage suggested a cold-blooded North Vietnamese resolve to stop all traffic on Highway 1, in callous disregard of civilian targets. But there was no evidence of a deliberate intent to single out the civilian refugees.

More than half the victims were South Vietnamese soldiers, and Washington's estimate of 1,000 to 2,000 dead seems inflated.

Interviews with survivors of the massacre and a visual inspection of the death site indicate 200 to 600 dead. Panic was a major contributing factor to the bloodshed.

News

North Vietnamese forces surrounded Quang Tri and cut Highway 1, its southern escape route to Hue, a week before the fall of the province capital. South Vietnamese marines who were given the job of reopening the highway fought their way to within eight miles of Quang

Tri. Three convoys of South Vietnamese troops and civilians tried to flee southward on Highway 1 between April 24 and 30. They were ambushed by North Vietnamese forces entrenched on both sides of the highway, four to eight miles southeast of Quang Tri.

This correspondent was with South Vietnamese marines who fought their way to the southernmost ambush site April 30. Wounded survivors who passed the advancing marines said their convoy had been hit by mines, mortars, rocket grenades and small-arms fire from North Vietnamese dug in as close as 20 yards to the road-way.

According to the State Department, the North Vietnamese used antipersonnel artillery shells with fuses set for air bursts, which "shredded the refugee column" with sprays of shrapnel.

But frontline witnesses reported no air bursts before April 30 — any such would have killed troops of the enemy's own ambush force as well as the fleeing South Vietnamese.

Hundreds of wrecked vehicles and corpses littered a four-mile stretch of Highway 1. Four out of five vehicles were military — Jeeps, trucks, tanks, armored personnel carriers, artillery pieces and ambulances. Civilian vehicles included buses, motorcycles and bicycles.

THESE JOHNNIES won't come marching home to North Vietnam. They are casualties of their own attack in South Vietnam's Quang Tri area. The livestock and native stock pay little attention as they trudge southward toward safety.

McGovern still having trouble with 'regulars'

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP) — Democratic presidential candidate George McGovern is still having his troubles with the party regulars and the public opinion polls. But, he says, he has sampled the wind and his fortunes are on the rise.

The same assessment was handed down by McGovern's political ally, Sen. Abraham Ribicoff of Connecticut, who said McGovern's reception in Hartford Thursday afternoon was warm and enthusiastic and "was exactly the same as I saw for Harry Truman in 1948."

It was the first day of McGovern's two-day "listening tour" into New England, aimed at drawing out people on what is bothering them.

The campaign swing concludes today with appearances here and New York City. The South Dakotan will spend Friday night and Saturday in Woodstock, N.Y., at the home of Yale economist James Tobin, a chief McGovern economic adviser.

After talking with shoe workers in Manchester, N.H., and insurance industry employees in Hartford, McGovern said, "I've heard first and foremost, a yearning, a virtual cry for peace."

He added that workers he talked to were also worried about unemployment, tax reform and "programs to help the older people."

Just before McGovern began the New England trip, the Harris Survey showed him trailing President Nixon 57 to 34 with 9 per cent undecided.

And in Providence Thursday night, state Democratic Chairman Lawrence P. McGarry and Providence Mayor Joseph A. Doorley both failed to show up for a fund-raising reception for their party's standard bearer. Doorley was in Washington Thursday and did not return for the McGovern affair. McGarry was reportedly in the state.

McGarry and Doorley had endorsed Sen. Edmund S. Muskie of Maine for the Democratic presidential nomination.

Court faces another test in U.S. House

WASHINGTON (AP) — Federal judges' authority to order busing for school desegregation has withstood an assault in the Senate but now must face a test in the House.

By a 49-35 vote Thursday, the Senate killed an amendment by Sen. James B. Allen, D-Ala., that would have barred federal courts from ordering busing of children on the basis of race, religion, color or national origin.

In the House, the Rules Committee cleared the way for a vote next Thursday on a bill allowing court-ordered busing only as a last resort for desegregation.

Allen tried to have the Senate attach his antibusing provision to a bill authorizing additional funds for the American Revolution Bicentennial Commission. The bill passed 87 to 0 after the amendment was killed.

The amendment also would have barred federal officials from withholding or threatening to withhold any government funds to coerce a local school district into accepting a busing program to carry out desegregation.

The amendment was identical to one proposed last February by Sen. Robert P. Griffin, R-Mich., to another bill. It was narrowly defeated at that time.

The House bill, which cleared the committee on a 10-5 vote, would prohibit the busing of pupils in the first six grades any farther than the second-closest school to their home. In higher grades busing could be ordered only as a last resort.

In every case, it would require that the courts follow a prescribed list of solutions for unlawful segregation, such as redrawing school-attendance zones, building new schools and permitting student transfers, before busing could be ordered.

In predominantly black inner-city schools, where busing offers the only means of desegregating, the bill would authorize $500 million in extra federal aid as an alternative to busing.

Rep. Albert H. Quie, R-Minn., the bill's principal author, said it would permit desegregation to continue without the emotional issue of long-distance busing.

—Lightning not only can strike the same place twice but it frequently does. It has hit up to 50 times each on the Empire State Building and other skyscrapers.

Registration for Washington slated

Registration for classes begins at the Washington Schools Aug. 31. The faculty will meet for a one-day workshop at 9 a.m. Aug. 30.

Grades 1 through 9 will register at 8:15 a.m. Aug. 31; Grades 1-6 and 10-12 will register at 8:15 a.m. Sept. 1.

The buses will run on their regular routes both days. Labor Day, September 4, will be a holiday. The schools will operate on a half-day schedule September 5-8.

A full-day schedule will start Monday, Sept. 11, and lunches will be served beginning that day.

The Washington schools participate in the national school free lunch program. Each family will be given information concerning eligibility and an application blank. Qualifying families should return the completed application to the school office.

The time schedule and bus routes will be the same as last year.

A student must present a birth certificate showing that he is or will be six years old on or before Oct. 1 to be enrolled in the first grade.

Fonda investigation given month

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congressmen calling for prosecution of actress Jane Fonda because of her antiwar broadcasts in Hanoi have given the Justice Department a month to pursue an inquiry into her activity.

Turning down a member's request that she be subpoenaed for hearings on her recent trip to North Vietnam, the House Internal Security Committee voted 8-1 Thursday to ask the Justice Department for a progress report by Sept. 14.

Rep. Robert F. Drinan, D-Mass., cast the dissenting vote.

"This is the first time within memory that this committee (once known as the Un-American Activities Committee) has refused to subpoena an unfriendly witness," Drinan said.

"A majority of the members thought any subpoena would be premature," said the committee chairman, Rep. Richard H. Ichord, D-Mo., after the panel's hour-long consideration of the attempt by Rep. Fletcher Thompson, R-Ga., to call the actress.

Thompson said Ichord "wants in no way to interfere with her rights as a citizen — he made a strong case to protect her rights, but to insist that the Justice Department proceed with a thorough investigation."

Ichord said the Justice Department is studying tapes of Miss Fonda's broadcasts, made last month, "to determine ... whether the broadcasts ... did indeed cause or attempt to cause disloyalty or refusal of duty" on the part of U.S. servicemen who heard them.

In Los Angeles, Miss Fonda, saying she has done nothing wrong, invited the Justice Department to review the broadcast texts.

"I welcomed the committee members studying the texts of my broadcasts from North Vietnam and after full examination they had seen there is no basis for the charges against me," she added.

The Justice Department promised to respond by the Sept. 14 deadline.

"At most," said Ichord, "her actions and statements are criminal—at the very least, a

Nixon is expected to veto bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress has set the stage for an election-year impasse over the cost of social-welfare programs by sending President Nixon a $30.5-billion bill he is expected to veto.

The appropriations bill exceeds Nixon's request by $1.7 billion and fails to plug a loophole that could result in skyrocketing expenditures for a federal-state social-services program.

The bill appropriating funds for the Labor and Health, Education and Welfare department was approved by the Senate, 62 to 22, Thursday night and sent to the White House.

The legislation finances virtually all the government's social-welfare programs for the current fiscal year.

Congress held the Labor Department to about the $3 billion requested by the administration, but added millions to a variety of HEW projects, primarily in the field of health.

The final vote came on a House-Senate compromise, which trimmed almost a billion dollars from the figure first approved by the Senate, but still left the total nearly $2 billion higher than the House had voted.

In addition, the Senate rejected an effort to plug the loophole in a once-obscure law the administration considers a financial timebomb. Left as it is, the law could allow a social-services program to run up a $40-billion price tag, 1,000 times more than it was expected to cost.

UN membership for Bangladesh runs into 'wall'

United Nations, N.Y. (AP)—Bangladesh's bid for U.N. membership has run into a Chinese wall.

A supporter of Pakistan in the war last December that created Bangladesh, China made clear Thursday that it would veto membership for the new nation of 80 million people if the application got to a vote now.

Ambassador Huang Hua told the Security Council Bangladesh "is not qualified at all to be admitted to the United Nations."

He charged that Indian troops are still in Bangladesh and that Bangladesh is cooperating in India's defiance of the Council resolution last December calling for the release of more than 90,000 Pakistani prisoners of war still held by India.

"The so-called Bangladesh is even holding out threats for the trial of prisoners of war," he added.

Bangladesh has denied Indian troops are still on its territory.

An immediate vote was delayed as the president of the council for August, Edouard Longestay of Belgium, sent the application to the membership committee for hearings beginning today.

China voted against placing the applications on the council's agenda. It lost, 11 to 1, but this was not a veto since the question was procedural.

Huang and Soviet Ambassador Viktor L. Israelyan clashed repeatedly over Russia's support for Bangladesh's application.

The Soviet delegate argued that Bangladesh had "amply satisfied to the fullest extent" the requirements for membership. The Soviet Union supported India in the war.

Indian Minister N.P. Jain called for prompt approval of the bid, noting that Bangladesh is the eighth most populous nation in the world and has been recognized by 84 countries.

U.S. Ambassador George Bush did not speak in the debate. The United States also supported Pakistan in the war but has recognized Bangladesh.

Wine permits turned down

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — An application for permits to sell wine in 32 Safeway Stores in Arkansas was rejected Thursday by the state Alcoholic Beverage Control Board.

The action would be "opening the door to numerous outlets—more than we want to open at one time," said J. P. Brumbe-low, ABC director.

Representatives of two disparate groups—the Pulaski County Package Stores Association and the Christian Civic Foundation of Arkansas—appeared before the board to oppose the application.

Both groups said they did not feel a grocery was a proper place for the sale of wine.

Spring Hill schedule is announced

The Spring Hill School will open for the 1972-73 term on Aug. 25th. All pupils will register on this date beginning at 8:15 a.m. Pupils will be dismissed as soon as registration is completed.

Coming, Going

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Patton have returned from Sodus, N.Y., and were accompanied by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Palmer, who are now making their home at 408 North McRae.

Mr. and Mrs. Dale Springs and daughters of Oakley, Calif. left Monday morning to return home after spending last week here with his sisters, Mrs. "Bud" Hunt of Patmos and Mrs. Clarence Hunt of Hope, and their families.

Col. and Mrs. Monroe Kirkpatrick of Redstone Arsenal Ala. were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Willis Thrash Thursday evening.

Four visit TOPS Club

The Arkansas TOPS Club No. 94 had four visitors at its meeting on Monday, August 7 at the Douglas Building. They were: Mrs. Barbara Raley and Mrs. Herbert Raley of McNab, Mrs. Carolyn Reese and Mrs. Zettie Caudle of Hope.

Mae Meloy led the pledge and the song to open the meeting. Queen of the Week was Stella Bowden, and Queen of the Month was Virginia O'Neal. Linda Bell and Sheila Halsell gave the program, "Reason Enough to Want to Lose Weight." Linda Bell also read the lists of "10 Reasons Why I Want to Lose Weight" which members had brought.

Anyone interested in losing weight is invited to meet with the TOPS Club any Monday night at 7 p.m. in the Douglas Building.

HELEN BOTTLE

Tactless or Plain Mean?
 Dear Helen:
 Are some women born tactless or are they just plain mean?

In almost every gathering you'll find one who just can't give a compliment that doesn't have an implied slam.

For instance: I'd lost weight (after much effort). Daisy (we'll call her) listened to others telling me how well I looked, and agreed, "Yes, isn't it wonderful to finally be rid of that old middle-aged spread?"

She's the same one who told me my new hairdo was great because the bangs covered "all those wrinkles" in my forehead. I hadn't been aware of them, before.

She likes someone's dress because "the color helps a sallow complexion." Or, at a dinner party: "Isn't Terry (the hostess) wonderful? I wouldn't DARE use chuck steak for Stroganoff, but SHE makes it taste like sirloin!"

What do you do with complimentary slammers? Are they aware of what they're saying, really? —CONNIE

Dear Connie:
 They're aware! But if you accuse them of cattiness, they'll go kittenish with "But I was just trying to say something nice."

Put the loaded compliment down to jealousy. And laugh! I know a woman who collects them because they make such good conversation pieces. —H.

Dear Helen:
 Please, once again, can you give us the name and address of the little magazine that lists tips on money-saving grocery coupons, refunds, special savings, etc. which food and household goods companies offer to increase sales?

So often I hear about cash refunds for box or can labels, etc., but by the time I find out all the details, the offer has expired.

I read in a magazine (which got thrown away before I copied the address) that this monthly saves grocery shoppers $100 or more annually and only costs $3.00 a year. —HOPEFUL

Dear Hopeful:

I believe you're talking about "QUICKSILVER." You can subscribe, or obtain further information about it by writing to Eggleston Enterprise, Milford, New York, 13807. Quicksilver describes itself as "A monthly bulletin listing manufacturers' offers, special cash refunds, wholesale purchasing sources and other money-saving information." And it can save housewives quite a lot! —H.

Dear Helen:

I was put in jail at 18, and got gang-raped. This is standard for young guys, unless they get a "protector," which is about the same thing except there's only one.

Well, I learned the ropes and got along. At least, I survived. I served my term (draft evasion), but I won't ever be the same.

Now I'm going back to prison. Don't have to be afraid of rape this time, but I'm afraid of something else. Ever since it happened when I was 18, I want to be around boys, not girls. I even think about wearing women's clothing.

I wasn't this way before, but another prison term and I'll be a homo for life. I need a psychiatrist, but if I try to get help there, and name names, I might get killed. Besides, prison shrinks don't do you much good.

You may think this is a scheme to get sympathy or special treatment and it

Bears win in last 3 seconds

HOUSTON (AP) — Refusing to accept a tie, the Chicago Bears used a seldom used rule Thursday night to pave the way for a seven-yard field goal by Mac Percival and a 20-17 exhibition football victory over the Houston Oilers.

Larry Rowden, Chicago linebacker, covered a free kick at the Houston one to enable Percival to kick the winning three-pointer with just three seconds to play.

Confused Oilers defenders made no attempt to cover the free ball and their new head coach, Bill Peterson, immediately accepted the blame.

"It was our fault," Peterson said. "We simply had not discussed the free kick situation."

The weird ending had its start when Chicago made a fair catch of a punt with 25 seconds to play.

Under both pro and collegiate rules, a team receiving a fair catch has several options, including the free kick, for placing the ball in play. But on a free kick the ball becomes a free ball, meaning any player on the field can claim it by covering it.

Percival made the free kick while using a tee at the Bears' 40. Had the ball gone above the uprights, Percival would have had a 60-yard field goal. Had Rowden covered it in the end zone instead of on the one he

Weaver leads Golf Classic

HARRISON, N.Y. (AP) — DeWitt Weaver, slump-ridden and struggling since scoring his first tour victory a year ago, said a complete change in attitude helped him into the first-round lead in the $250,000 Westchester Golf Classic.

Thursday he shot an eight-under-par 64 for the 18-hole lead in this tournament with a $50,000 first prize.

"Last week I hit the ball better than I have any other time in my life. But I shot 293 because I putted like an idiot," he said.

He put together his career-best round to move past Jack Nicklaus and pro rookie Steve Melnyk, tied just one stroke back with seven-under-par 65s on the 6,700 yard Westchester Country Club course, Thursday.

Big Labron Harris and Dwight Nevil, a one-time Dallas fireman, followed at 66 with Australian Bruce Devlin, Bob Murphy and Wayne Yates, now in Atlanta club pro, next at 67. Weaver, once a backup quarterback to Don Meredith at Southern Methodist, barely made expenses through three years of struggle on the pro tour before breaking through with a victory in the rich Match Play Championship last season.

He went into another decline, however, and had won only some $15,000 with a slow, uncertain start this season.

Chicago Bulls have new owner

CHICAGO (AP) — The Chicago Bulls of the National Basketball Association, on-again, off-again on the trading mart all year, finally have been sold to new ownership with a lock on the Chicago Stadium as a long-term home base.

Patriots will depend heavily on Jim Plunkett's ability

AMHERST, Mass. (AP) — The New England Patriots, who regained respectability with the arrival of Jim Plunkett and a new stadium in 1971, hope for continued improvement this year with the ultimate goal the National Football League's Super Bowl.

"We are totally committed to winning," Coach John Mazur said.

With Plunkett directing every play at quarterback, the Patriots shook the role of doormat with six victories last season, the most by the club in five years.

Plunkett, former Stanford All-American, made the big jump to the pros with ease and earned rookie of the year honors in the American Conference. He completed 158 of 328 passes for 2,158 yards and 19 touchdowns.

Baseball meetings continue

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Major league baseball's bigwigs began to wrestle today with the question of possible realignment of the American and National leagues.

Nobody knows exactly how much support or opposition there is on the proposal.

A committee, named during the summer baseball meetings which ended Thursday, hopes to find out and will spend the next four months studying the issue. It consists of Commissioner Bowie Kuhn and Presidents Joe Cronin of the AL and Charles "Chub" Feeney of the NL.

The committee will report back to the owners at the winter meetings in December in Hawaii.

The two proposals call for splitting the leagues into either three eight-club leagues or four six-club leagues.

— Penn State will play 11 football games next fall with six of them at home.

Astros defeat Braves, Reds lose to Dodgers

By KEN RAPPOPORT Associated Press Sports Writer

Baseball may be a game of inches for some, but it's still a matter of feet for Harry Walker.

"We're close enough in the National League West race so that Cincinnati can hear the pitter-patter of our little feet," says the Houston Astros manager.

"Close enough" is 6½ games behind the leaders—not a euphoric position at this time of the season, but certainly not suicidal.

"Anything can happen," Walker said after his Astros defeated the Atlanta Braves 9-4 while the Reds were losing to the Los Angeles Dodgers 6-2.

The Dodgers also chopped a game off their third-place position in the West. They now stand 10 games behind Cincinnati—a posture that also is not the end of the world, according to Los Angeles Manager Walt Alton.

The Dodgers made a race of it last season. They closed with a rush and wound up losing the West pennant by one game to the San Francisco Giants.

In the only other National League game Thursday, the Chicago Cubs ripped the Montreal Expos 8-0.

Legion tourney finals tonight

NEWPORT, Ark. (AP) — Fort Smith and North Little Rock are the only undefeated teams left in the state American Legion baseball tournament here.

And then there will be only one after tonight's game between the two unbeaten.

In Thursday's games, Fort Smith clipped Pine Bluff 4-2, North Little Rock dumped Little Rock 4-1, Blytheville eliminated Benton 22-5 and Forrest City eliminated Newport 8-3.

Blytheville played Pine Bluff and Forrest City played Little Rock in the other games today.

Randall Roberts hurled a five-hitter for Fort Smith. Doubles in the second inning by Bruce Babbitt and Roberts led to Fort Smith's first two runs. Fort Smith added two more runs in the sixth to knock loser Jimmy Bradford from the mound. Pine Bluff scored single runs in the fifth and seventh innings.

North Little Rock grabbed a 1-0 lead in the third but Little Rock tied it in the sixth on Ralph Bradbury's third homer of the tournament. However, Bradbury dropped a fly ball in the seventh, leading to three unearned runs for North Little Rock. David Palmer was the winning pitcher and Bob Worthington was the loser.

Jay Harbison belted two home runs, driving in three runs, to lead Forrest City. Lynn Oswalt, who relieved starter Larry Clark, gained the victory. Woody Long was the loser for Newport.

Blytheville back pitcher Randy Gardner with 15 hits and four home runs, one each from Randy Smith, Eric Littell, Richard Thompson and Ken Shumate. Pat Campbell blasted a three-run shot for Benton.

FROM REYKJAVIK TO RIO, chess commands attention. While the championship match in Iceland between America's Bobby Fischer and the Soviet Union's Boris Spassky made international headlines, Brazilian beachgoers took a more relaxed approach to the ancient game of kings at an "educational chess center," newest feature of Copacabana Beach.

Experts predict Bobby will win

REYKJAVIK, Iceland (AP) — The experts predicted that Bobby Fischer would win the adjourned 13th game of their championship chess match today, bringing him only 4½ points from the world title.

A victory for the American challenger would make the score 8-5 in his favor. Russian champion Boris Spassky needs 7 points to retain his title, and with a maximum of 11 games remaining Fischer could win with a run of draws.

The Brooklyn, N.Y., chess wizard needs 12½ points in the 24-game series to capture the crown while the Russian master needs 12 points to retain it. A win counts one point and a draw one-half point.

The experts said Fischer had

Spassky in a hopeless position by the time the game adjourned after the 41st move.

At the adjournment, Fischer was two pawns ahead, six to Spassky's four, with one of them on the seventh rank in a position to promote to a queen. Each player had two rooks and a bishop.

Fischer played Thursday despite the Icelandic Chess Federation's refusal of his demand that the first seven rows of seats in the hall be removed.

"The spectators are so close, and so noisy, and the acoustics are so poor, that I can hear them opening candy wrappers and I hear bits of conversation, as well as coughing, laughing and so on," Fischer's letter of complaint said.

Dwyer hits first homer of season

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS Arkansas Travelers center-fielder Jim Dwyer waited a long time for his first home run of the season, but he picked a good time when he finally got around to it.

Dwyer beat Shreveport 10-7 Thursday night with a grand slam homer, hit with two out in the bottom of the ninth inning. He also singled home a run in the sixth inning.

In other Texas League games, Alexandria dented Memphis' East Division title hopes with a 3-0 and 3-1 double-header sweep. Amarillo swamped El Paso 6-1 and Midland beat San Antonio 5-2.

A five-run fourth inning enabled Amarillo to beat the West Division-leading El Paso Sun Dodgers. The Giants used three hits, two walks, an error and a wild pitch in the big inning, and then followed Steve Kokor's three-hit pitching to victory.

Midland's Don Schroeder struck out eight San Antonio batters and gave up just three hits, all of them in the fifth inning, to lead the Cubs over the hapless Brewers. Chris Ward drove in four runs with a three-run homer and a single for the winners.

Dave Hilton broke up a scoreless duel with a three-run homer for Alexandria in its first game with Memphis as pitcher Willie Boynton won a two-hit shutout. Loser Fran Webb had a three-hitter going in the final inning of the opener before Hilton connected for the Aces.

Tonight's games have the same teams in the same cities for single games.

Third in a series

Recruiting is the name of the game

LUBBOCK, Tex. (AP) — "In some ways," a Houston writer observed, "Jim Carlen reminds one of the late Vince Lombardi, perhaps the greatest disciplinarian in football history."

"You can't honestly knock his idealistic approach, and you have to admire his guts for speaking out."

Carlen, entering his third year as football coach at Texas Tech, has shown no reluctance to speak his mind.

But aside from a confrontation last year with Tech fans, his vigorous, personalized recruiting program coupled with a hard set of rules attracted the most attention.

When his unbending guidelines were announced, a campus underground newspaper promptly labeled him "Morality Fats."

And, says Carlen, "I think a lot of recruiters from other schools have used it against us very openly and viciously."

On the other hand, he continued, when other coaches find a kid who favors such rules, they well sell those rules as if they were their own.

In the competitive arena of schoolboy recruiting, such matters are more than delicate.

"I don't want to have any foolish rules," Carlen said in an interview. "We have rules we think are basic."

"The rule most discussed against us is our church rule.

"I've never said a boy had to go to any church... I just think a youngster needs faith. I think it's one thing a lot of young people are missing right now."

"But if a kid tells me he's an atheist and his folks go along with it, I don't ever say another word."

"We advocate not drinking alcohol, taking drugs, smoking cigarettes—12 months a year."

"We have mandatory class attendance until a boy's a senior."

The rules' appeal to parents has been a positive recruiting tool, he said.

"I visit every home of every football player so I can meet the family," Carlen said. "And I give them our rules, which I guess are a little more stern than most rules. But most homes have tougher rules than we have. We just try to continue on."

Bradley scores tourney win

Last night at Legion Field, Bradley powered past Atlanta by the score of 7-1. Bradley, never in trouble, scored three runs in the first inning and coasted the rest of the way.

The winning pitcher for Bradley was Brock, who gave up four hits and struck out 15.

Tonight's game will be Bradley playing against top-seeded DeKalb, Tex. starting at 7:30.

White Sox, A's continue series

OAKLAND (AP) — After a long night's journey into today, the Chicago White Sox and Oakland A's settled nothing in the American League West race.

"I don't care how long the game lasts, as long as we win," said weary Sox Manager Chuck Tanner after the battle for first place that began Thursday night and was suspended early today at 3-3 after 17 innings.

"It will be sudden death," A's Manager Dick Williams said, looking ahead to the 18th inning, which will start tonight and be followed by the second game of the crucial series.

Elsewhere, Detroit remained one-half game ahead of Baltimore in the AL East despite a 1-0 loss to New York—the third-place Yankees are only two back—when Baltimore suffered a similar 1-0 setback at the hands of Milwaukee. California downed Minnesota 3-1 in the only other contest.

National League scores: Los Angeles 6, Cincinnati 2; Houston 9, Atlanta 6; Chicago 8, Montreal 0.

Pat Kelly put the Sox ahead

3-2 in the top of the 13th, leading off with a triple and scoring later on Bob Locker's wild pitch.

But the A's Angel Mangual, guilty of two throwing errors during Chicago's two-run second inning, hit a one-out double in the bottom of the 13th and scored on pinch hitter Gene Tenace's two-out single off Steve Kealey.

Both managers virtually depleted their supply of pitchers in the first 17 innings of the game, with Williams using MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Some 3,000 young people are expected in Miami Beach two days before the Republican National Convention. Their mission is not one of protest but to work for President Nixon.

"They'll be here to do a job and learn about the political process," Stephen D. Nostrand said Thursday. He is staff director for the National Young Voters for the President.

"If there is any indication of any kind of any confrontation, we intend to get them out of the area. We've got the capability to get them on buses and move out within three minutes."

Convention protest leaders previously have said they expect from 5,000 to 10,000 young people to demonstrate during the Aug. 21-24 convention, but they have vowed to follow a policy of nonviolence.

Nostrand said the Nixon workers range in age from 18 to 30, are evenly split between men and women and include about 400 or more blacks, Indians and Latin-and-Chinese-Americans.

"We've already got their reservations and money," he said. "They're coming from every state and paying their own way. That's fantastic."

COOKING IS FUN

By Cecily Brownstone

Associated Press Food Editor Look into Mexican cookbooks and the chances are you'll come upon recipes for Chile con Queso (Green Chile with Cheese). This is a savory dip that the Mexican cookbooks suggest you serve with corn chips or tostadas (fried quartered corn tortillas) at cocktail time or with refried beans and tortillas at brunch. Offered this way, Chile con Queso is extremely popular in the American Southwest and in California. New York cooks sometimes serve the dip with vegetables, raw or parboiled.

CHILE CON QUESO (Green Chile with Cheese)
2 medium tomatoes (peeled, seeded and chopped)
1 can (4 ounces) whole roasted green chilies (drained, seeds removed and chopped)
1 tablespoon instant minced onion
1/2 teaspoon seasoned salt
1 package (8 ounces) cream cheese, cubed
1/4 cup milk
Drained canned cut-up pimiento

In a 1-quart saucepan simmer tomatoes, chilies, onion and seasoned salt, stirring often, for 10 minutes.

Add cream cheese and milk; over very low heat stir until cream cheese has melted and mixture is warm.

Serve warm in a chafing dish over hot water as a dip; garnish with pimiento.

Any leftover dip may be refrigerated in a covered container and used as a cracker spread.

Makes 1 3/4 cups.

Accompaniments for Chile con Queso:
Cauliflower flowerets, green pepper squares, carrot sticks, celery sticks and asparagus tips may be used for dunking.

DR. LAWRENCE E. LAMB

Breath Shortness Is Heart Symptom

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

Dear Dr. Lamb — I would appreciate your view on my situation. I had a stroke in 1965 and four serious heart attacks in 1966. Now I am having trouble with my breathing. I must use three pillows or my shortness of breath will keep me awake more than half of the night. My doctor claims the breathing is caused by nervousness and emotional tension but he doesn't prescribe anything for relief. I am 66 years old. What should I do?

Dear Reader—Of course, I can't say without having information exactly what is causing your shortness of breath, but one of the signs that the heart is not functioning as strongly as it should is shortness of breath. This is caused by the accumulation of fluid in the lungs. The fluid literally backs up in the lungs because the left side of the heart is weak. There are other things which cause shortness of breath but this is the first thing one thinks of in a person who has heart disease. Your doctor has probably already considered this and must not think this is the cause.

Your letter suggests that you do not have confidence in your doctor's opinion. If your problem is nervousness and emotional tension, one factor in relieving this would be to satisfy your own mind that your heart is all right. So, I think you should ask your doctor to send you to a heart specialist for a consultation. All reputable doctors welcome consultations from another physician and sometimes such consultations really help the doctor who is faced with a complex problem. If your heart is all right, you will be happier and even be a better patient. In general, if a doctor refuses to arrange for a consultation when a patient asks for one something is wrong. The American Medical Assn. encourages consultations with other doctors.

Dear Dr. Lamb — Could you tell me if a great number of X rays have a bad effect on your blood cells or other organs in your body? My brother has had about 20 X rays and we have been worried about the side effects they might have.

Dear Reader — Excessive radiation can have side effects. For this reason limits of exposure to radiation over a given period of time have been set for human beings. Unless the person is in an occupation that causes him to be exposed to radiation, the usual number of X rays done for medical examinations doesn't pose a problem. Certainly they pose less of a threat to the patient than not taking the X rays and failing to diagnose an important medical problem. Most radiologists are well-versed on this problem and are not likely to use an excessive amount of X rays in studying their patients.

Does all the talk about cholesterol disturb you? If so, you'll want to read Dr. Lamb's booklet in which he answers your questions about this subject. Send 50 cents to Dr. Lamb, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, N.Y. 10019. Ask for "Cholesterol" booklet.

WIN AT BRIDGE

Bidding Bad, Play Worse

tribution with all side suits well stopped and it won't hurt you much.

Here is a hand from the world's mixed teams that shows one of these three no-trump bidders incurring a tremendous loss.

At most tables the final contract was four spades with declarer making either four or five.

At this table, South jumped to three no-trump. The spade suit was completely lost and while three no-trump should have wheeled in, this declarer managed to follow up his bad bid with worse play and wind up in the soup.

The first trick found the nine, 10, jack and queen of hearts on the table with South's queen the winner.

He entered dummy with a spade and for some reason best known to himself tried the diamond finesse. West took his king and led the eight of hearts.

South could have hopped up with dummy's king and made four no-trump, but after long thought he played low whereupon West ran off the rest of the heart suit and set South one trick.

(NEWSPAPER ENTERPRISE ASSN.)

♥-CARD Sense-♦

The bidding has been:

West	North	East	South
1 ♠	2 ♠	Pass	2 ♠
Pass	3 ♠	Pass	3 ♠
Pass	4 ♠	Pass	4 ♠
Pass	5 ♠	Pass	5 ♠
Pass	6 ♠	Pass	?

You, South, hold:
♠ 8 7 4 3 2 ♠ A K 9 4 3 ♠ 7 6 2

What do you do now?

A—Pass. Your partner is showing very good clubs. He may be able to get rid of spade losers on your diamonds.

TODAY'S QUESTION

Instead of bidding three clubs, your partner has bid two no-trump over your two hearts. What do you do now?

The "lost coin" was out of circulation. The "lost sheep" was away from the fold. The "lost son" was far from the Father's house. But what a day in history as we see the Prodigal return, put on his old clothes, get his fork and go to the field to do harvest. What a challenge the fields offer this man. It is that way too, with spiritual things—eternal goods—God's work—His church. There is plenty for us to do but so very few who can be depended on to do it. Perhaps it is time for us to start gathering up some of the "fruits-of-the-spirit," love, joy, peace and long-suffering. These are not material, Sir. They are elements or constituent parts of every aspirant of Heaven. Harvest time is a grand time of year. All the granaries need filling, but we must not forget our responsibility to harvest souls.

Nixon is asked to intervene

SALEM, Ark. (AP) — A Fulton County group has asked President Nixon to send "federal monitors" to the county to make certain that the November general election is conducted fairly.

James R. Davis, founder of the Interested Citizens of Fulton County For Action Please, Inc., said he formed the group after he became alarmed at voting practices in the county. "We've got dead people on the roster who vote," he said. "One was proven dead 17 years and voting — the headstone is out in the graveyard."

Davis also said "every" regulation of the Arkansas election code had been violated. He said there were no voting booths and that voting was done with a lead pencil so that votes could be altered.

"There's no basis for the accusations," Sheriff Roy Barker said. "Our county government is operated by the people and is checked and rechecked by the authorities."

County Clerk Lester Collins said it seemed to him "like this is a bunch of troublemakers. There's not much truth to anything they say."

Barker and Collins noted that Davis is an independent candidate for county judge.

The state attorney general's office said it was unable to find a statute requiring that pens be furnished voters.

Davis also charged that "at least 1,000 votes were stolen and manipulated in the county in the June 13 Democratic primary runoff between Sen. John L. McClellan and Rep. David Pryor."

The group said that Pros. Atty. Terry Poynter of Mountain Home had been asked to impound three ballot boxes in connection with "the county judge's race in the May 30 pre-ferential primary."

Thomas R. Bray of Camp, president of the organization, said the group has about 100 members.

A bittersweet moment

DETROIT (AP) — The survivors of the nation's first and only all-black, totally segregated Army Air Corps squadron begin meeting here today to recall a bittersweet moment in history.

They include the highest ranking Negro in the Air Force, a U.S. congressman, the first black president of a Big Ten university, a Manhattan-based corporation executive and a Michigan state senator.

They were all talented young officers hand-picked after Pearl Harbor for flight training at an Army airstrip near Alabama's Tuskegee Institute. They were also an anachronism in military history, and they will never forget it.

"Most of us were bitter about the segregation, but equally determined to end it with a record of achievement," recalls U.S. Rep. Charles Diggs, D-Mich.

Diggs said he was forced as an Army lieutenant in 1944 to use the back door "colored carryout" of a fashionable Alabama restaurant which routinely served German prisoners of war.

"That was the shock of recognition for me, that an enemy was more welcome than a black," Diggs said.

In the same year Diggs was carrying out chicken, William T. Patrick, who later became a Detroit city councilman, was sitting in the back row of an Army theater where front seats were reserved for white officers and Italian prisoners.

Patrick, drafted off the University of Michigan campus, was a squadron leader in charge of newcomers like Harvard graduate Clifton R. Wharton Jr., who went on to become president of Michigan State University.

Also under Patrick's command were Gene Dericotte, former University of Michigan football star, and James N. Garrett, now executive secretary of Detroit Mayor Roman Gribbs' Commission on Children and Youth.

Patrick now is a top executive at American Telephone & Telegraph Co. in Manhattan.

In the spring of 1945, 101 black airmen were arrested for staging a sit-in at Lockbourne Air Base in Ohio, where black officers were assessed dues to support a white officers' club from which they were barred.

Among those in the group was Lt. Daniel "Chappie" James, one of the original black airmen. James became the highest ranking Negro in the Air Force last month when he was promoted to major general.

James, now a deputy assistant secretary of defense for public affairs, and bombardier-navigator Coleman Young, now a Michigan state senator, were defended in the Lockbourne case by Thurgood Marshall, now a U.S. Supreme Court Justice. The charges were dropped.

When the black airmen completed flight training and boarded the train en route to overseas duty as the 99th Pursuit Squadron, U.S. Army Air Corps, with them went a ground force of 400 black officers and enlisted men, 33 fighter planes and a black West Point graduate, Lt. Col. Benjamin O. Davis Jr.

In more than 200 missions in the European theater, not one U.S. bomber escorted by the "Black 99th" was lost to enemy fighters.

McGovern visits New York

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. George S. McGovern takes his Democratic presidential campaign to New York today.

Thursday he will be at a shoe manufacturing plant in Manchester, N.H., and the Setra Life and Casualty Co. in Hartford, Conn.

Also Thursday, the White House declined comment on a charge by Democratic vice presidential candidate Sargent Shriver that Nixon "blew" an opportunity to end the Vietnam war in 1969 on better terms than he could get now.

"Nixon had peace handed to him literally in his lap," Shriver said in an interview, but didn't explain exactly how this came about.

The White House, meanwhile, said criticism of the news media will not be an issue in the campaign.

Questioned about press reports that President Nixon had given instructions against public criticism of the media, Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said, "We have never had a plan to make the press an issue in the campaign."

The Defense Department stepped into the campaign with a bang by releasing a lengthy document implying that Sen. McGovern was engaging in "mythology" in proposing drastic cuts in defense expenditures.

The study said defense spending already is at a peacetime level and that the planned outlay of $78.3 billion for the current fiscal year will buy less in manpower and weapons than any defense budget since 1950, before the Korean War.

McGovern has proposed a defense budget of $55 billion by fiscal 1975 compared with the $85 billion minimum he thinks the Pentagon will want.

In other developments: —Clark MacGregor, President Nixon's campaign director, said in one of the strongest GOP attacks yet that McGovern's "$6,500 guaranteed annual income scheme ... would kill incentive while it rewarded idleness, and while it broke the backs of the working men and women of America with skyrocketing taxes ..."

—Rep. Donald M. Riegle Jr., a liberal Republican from Michigan, complained that he has been prevented from testifying before the Republican Platform Committee and has been referred to a subcommittee instead. A similar complaint was made by Jill Ruckelshaus, wife of the director of the Environmental Protection Agency.

Another levy is possible

WASHINGTON (AP) — The possibility of proposing a national value-added tax has been pushed to a back burner by President Nixon's administration—but the burner apparently hasn't been turned off.

In an interview with The Associated Press, Treasury Undersecretary Edwin S. Cohen emphasized that nothing he said should be taken to mean a decision has been made or is imminent on proposing the levy, a form of national sales tax. Cohen, regarded at Treasury as a high-level expert and adviser, said the final word on any major tax proposal would be Nixon's.

Congress is expected to begin a major tax review next year. Democrats are pledged to loop-hole-closing, the administration has said it wants to simplify the revenue code—and if huge deficits continue, more tax money may have to be raised somehow.

Cohen said, "VAT will be an option available at some time or other for several things."

The administration has spoken of value-added as a possible means of providing federal financing for education and thus relieving state and local property taxes now used for this purpose.

Difficulties developed, however, in devising ways to be sure that such federal contributions would be used to moderate the property taxes levied by the states and thousands of local jurisdictions.

The White House referred the matter to the Advisory Council on Intergovernmental Relations, which is not expected to send its recommendations to Nixon until after the November election.

The issue is already deep in presidential politics. The Democratic platform adopted last month accuses the administration of shifting tax burdens to the average wage-earner and says of value-added: "We oppose this price-raising unfair tax in any form."

In its pure form, the levy is a tax added at each stage in the production and sale of goods and services.

Questions and Answers

Social Security Administration
P.O. Box 1319
Texarkana, Texas

If you have any questions regarding social security, send them to the Social Security Office, Box 1319, Texarkana, Texas Attention: Glenda Bozeman

Q. I will be age 65 in a few months but have no immediate plans to retire. Will it be necessary for me to go to the social security office to enroll in the Medicare program?

A. You will need to apply with social security about 3 months before you become age 65. However, a trip to the social security office will not be necessary. Telephone your local social security office and explain your situation. They will complete the application forms and mail them to you to be signed and returned by mail.

Q. My first husband died about 10 years ago. My child, now age 14, and I received social security checks following his death. About 3 years ago I remarried and my check was stopped but I still receive a check for my child. My last marriage ended in divorce recently. Would I be eligible for social security checks again?

A. It appears you need to complete an application with social security for benefits on your first husband's record. You should telephone the local social security office and they will explain what is needed to start your benefits from social security again on his record.

People in the News

SAN PEDRO, Calif. (AP) — Secretary of the Army Robert F. Froehke made a casual appearance at Ft. MacArthur to award an artillery battery for its marksmanship — but he turned out to be the center of attention, all because of his colorful plaid pants.

Froehke's dress contrasted with Willey's neatly pressed military uniform. But said one observer, "After all, the secretary is a civilian."

TOKYO (AP) — Informed sources say Prime Minister Kakuei Tanaka has accepted an invitation to visit Peking to discuss normalization of diplomatic relations between Communist China and Japan.

The date of Tanaka's visit to the mainland is still to be determined, the sources said, but it will probably come in late September. Tanaka meets with President Nixon in Hawaii Aug. 31-Sept. 1.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The State Department says Princess Margriete of the Netherlands and her husband Pieter plan a private visit to the United States next month. Included on their itinerary is a stop in Holland, Mich., on Sept. 9 to take part in the celebration of the 125th anniversary of the founding of the city, the State Department said Thursday.

ST. LOUIS (AP) — "I tried to do what any good Missourian would do," Sen. Thomas F. Eagleton told a cheering crowd of about 1,000 welcoming him on his first appearance in his hometown since withdrawing as the Democratic vice presidential nominee.

"I took a lot of heat and I stayed in the kitchen," he said, paraphrasing another Missourian, former President Harry S. Truman.

FRESNO, Calif. (AP) — Gov. Ronald Reagan's wife Nancy has disclaimed authorship of an application for welfare aid which had been received by the Fresno County Welfare Department.

Existence of the application became known when Mrs. Reagan received a letter from the county saying she wasn't eligible for food stamps or assistance under the Aid to Families With Dependent Children program.

Female bouncer: Whataway to go!

NEW YORK (AP) — Ellen Sigward is sexy and charming but thinks nothing of throwing a man over her shoulder and into the street.

The buxom brunette is women's lib's latest club — a female bouncer.

She and two other aspiring bouncers showed up at the White Horse Inn Thursday to demonstrate how they could sweet talk or heave-ho a boisterous customer out of the tiny last side pub.

"We figured that a girl could get an unruly customer out in a nicer way," said the pub's bartender and co-owner, Peggy Doyle. Mrs. Doyle and her husband had advertised for a woman bouncer in local papers.

The pub, in nightly Sadie Hawkins style, has women bartenders and encourages women to pick up the tab for their dates.

"I'd attempt to use my feminine wiles at first, but I could turn to force because my father owned a gym and I know my way around judo and karate," said Miss Sigward.

Phyllis Seidman, 24, a tall brunette who said she favored brown leather pants for the sometimes rough job, explained her technique:

"I'd wink, throw them off guard, and then flip 'em."

She said she liked the new job opening because "I like to bounce — balls and men."

A friend taught her judo, Phyllis said, and she developed the technique by warding off men on the streets of New York.

"I know a little judo, but I'd like to stop short of that," said Liz Laurie, 25, an unemployed plump blonde in a purple tee shirt and jeans.

Although they were applying for jobs in the bar, which has a small theatre to showcase women in the arts, the girls were not ardent women's lib supporters.

"We need more strong men and fewer loud-mouthed women," Ellen said.

Jack McManus, a regular White Horse customer, who admitted to one too many the night before, peered cautiously into the bar as the interviews progressed.

"A girl bouncer?" he asked, scratching his head. "If you've got to be bounced, that's definitely the way to go."
